In Celebration Of Life
Michael Paul Farmer, Sr.

I REMEMBER YOU

I remember you on quiet days
While raindrops whisper on the pane;
But my memories have no grief;
I let just the joy we knew remain.

I remember you when evening stars
Look down on me, with steadfast eyes
I remember you when once I wake
To catch a glimpse of the red sunrise.

And when my thoughts do turn to you
I know you would not have me cry;
But live for you and laugh for you,
When you are happy, so am I.

I remember all the fun we shared,
Your loving kiss, our last goodbye;
I think of you, it makes me glad,
For while I live, you shall not die.
